

Principal for the Morning at St. Josaphat

Principal Lucy Dyczkowsky at St. Josaphat Catholic School, handed over the school key to Daniel Richniak in grade 2. He won the school contest to be "Principal For The Morning". The students of this tiny school raised money for the "Heart and Stroke Foundation" and to promote literacy. One of the prizes was to be principal and this grade

2 student was lucky enough to experience the job first hand. He had to make announcements throughout the day and answer some very difficult registration questions. Daniel's day did not end there. He visited all classes during his "walk-about" and took pictures of events that were taking place in the school. He greeted visitors and dealt with yard duty issues. When the day was done, Daniel was asked what he thought about being a principal. His response was, "It's a very busy job!"
