

Celebrating Our Education Support Staff March 3, 2014

As a Catholic school system, we should remember to celebrate the people that we work with each and every day, and to show our appreciation for their friendship, mentorship, support and caring throughout the year.

The Board, last year, declared the first Monday in March as Education Support Staff Appreciation Day to highlight in particular the efforts of this diverse group of individuals for the work that they do to support student achievement and well-being.

We encourage all of our schools to acknowledge the contribution that these individuals make to the entire life of the school community.

We know that it is only through the collective knowledge, energy and effort of all our staff, in partnership with our parishes and families that we continue to succeed as the largest publicly funded Catholic school board in the world.

Our students need the love and support of a wide variety of caring and dedicated adults in order to become the best they can be, and to aspire to the goals set out in our Catholic school graduate expectations.

We thank all of you for the energy, enthusiasm and care that you devote to our schools and our students, and we pray for God's continued blessing on the important work that you do each and every day.

Thank you!
