

Invitation to Teachers and Students:

The 2010 Asian Heritage Month Committee invites teachers and students in the development of an Asian Heritage Month Online Calendar. It will feature contributions of Asian-Canadians and topics of Asian culture and heritage.

The students, with the guidance of the teacher, should research and write on some pre-selected topics. The student entries will be great because:

- it demonstrates purposeful writing;
- it challenges students to write for a specific, yet general audience;
- the student researches widely to write 2 – 3 paragraphs;
- it allows students to explore a wider understanding of Asian experiences globally and locally; and,
- the students love seeing their written pieces on line (with approval from parents)

The online calendar will have 35 entries all written by students (either as a shared writing, guided writing or independent writing activity).
