The Institute for Education Leadership (IEL) brings together representatives from the principals' associations, the supervisory officers' associations, councils of directors of education and the Ministry of Education in a unique collaborative partnership. It advances and advocates for tri-level leadership (school, district and system). Its main objective is to assist school and system leaders in maximizing the achievement of all students.

The IEL has articulated four key goals: development, research, practice and communication. Development includes defining leadership, identifying the necessary leadership practices and personal leadership resources (see the Ontario Leadership Framework 2012) and staying on the leading edge of leadership knowledge and practice. The IEL supports research on effective leadership practices both in the Ontario context and internationally. It connects leadership practice to initiatives that support student achievement and well being.

To learn more about the work of the IEL and to access resources including the Leadership Self-Assessment Tools, go to <http://www.education-leadership-ontario.ca/home.shtml>.

As part of its work on research into practice the IEL has adopted the Ontario Leadership Framework (OLF) 2012 and continues to support and promote it as a powerful vehicle for strengthening school and system-level leadership in the province. This Leadership Self-Assessment Tool is another resource aspiring leaders may choose to use to inform their professional practice.

Self Assessment Tool for Aspiring Leaders

Purpose

The purpose of the Self Assessment Tool for Catholic Aspiring School Leaders is to enable leaders to assess their practices with reference to those identified in the research that are required to lead catholic schools in the province of Ontario. Using the practices identified in the Ontario Leadership Framework 2012 (OLF), the approach is evidence-based, giving leaders the opportunity to reflect upon and cite evidence of the experiences that have contributed to their leadership development. Using this self assessment as a starting point, leaders can identify areas for growth and can give further thought and planning to the development of their Annual Learning Plan. The purpose of this tool is to help to develop reflective practitioners who can lead schools towards achieving the three provincial education priorities of: high levels of student achievement; reduced gaps in student achievement; and increased public confidence in publicly funded education.

Context

The Board Leadership Development Strategy (BLDS) requires that boards develop a plan to assist leaders in continuing their professional growth. Catholic aspiring leaders need a clear understanding of their present level of leadership development as well as direction in ongoing leadership growth efforts. The development and implementation of a self assessment tool, based on the Ontario Leadership Framework 2012, informed by evidence of practice and supported by school boards across the province will provide the foundation for the development of talented potential leaders in our school system.

Development

The development of the Self Assessment Tool for Catholic Aspiring Leaders was based on the assumption that leadership development begins with leadership practices in the classroom. Teachers from various District School Boards worked at developing the leadership practices at the classroom, school and system level, based on the Ontario Leadership Framework. Catholic aspiring school leaders from various school boards validated the self-reflection tool to provide further precision in the indicators of the leadership practices. The self assessment of personal leadership resources is based on research by Ken Leithwood and is designed to assist leaders in recognizing the personal characteristics associated with cognitive, social and psychological resources. These resources have been found to help enact the leadership practices more successfully.

Implementation Tips

The Ontario Leadership Framework (OLF) 2012 provides an excellent “roadmap for the path to effective leadership.” The Self Assessment Tool for Catholic aspiring leaders uses the OLF 2012 to identify key classroom, school and system/community practices required to develop the leadership practices and personal leadership resources for effective leadership. In addition, alignment with the Ontario College of Teachers’ Standards of Practice for the Teaching Profession guides the daily practice of teachers.

The following tips were suggested by members of a provincial validation team. It is hoped that the list can be expanded by users of the assessment tool.

Growth and Development

Use the self assessment tool:

- ✓ To highlight leadership practices and reflect on how you as a leader are implementing the practice. As part of identifying evidence, focus on three main practices and highlight the indicators that helped you identify areas for growth.
- ✓ For personal self-reflection to help identify areas of growth for inclusion in the Annual Learning Plan (ALP).

Professional Development

Use the self assessment tool:

- ✓ As the basis for evaluating the effectiveness of leadership development programs and further development you require.
- ✓ To guide conversations between mentors and mentees and to collaboratively determine areas for further development.
- ✓ To help analyse case studies and to determine steps required to address issues and concerns.
- ✓ For networking with those who have used the self assessment tool.

Leadership Development

Use the self assessment tool:

- ✓ As a foundation for the development of leadership programs.
- ✓ To prepare for the promotion process and related interviews or activities and to develop a leadership portfolio containing evidence of the leadership practices in each of the five domains.
- ✓ To document leadership growth and development throughout leadership internship.
- ✓ To help leaders in the organization to provide authentic leadership development opportunities for catholic aspiring leaders in their schools and/or in the district:
 - ✓ Utilizing the self assessment tool not as a checklist, but rather to focus on evidence to determine results and to analyse the development of required leadership practices and personal leadership resources;
 - ✓ To collaboratively identify evidence of leadership; and,
 - ✓ To consider demonstrating leadership in the classroom as evidenced by their work with students, parents and colleagues.

Leadership Practices for Aspiring Leaders

Securing Accountability

Aspiring leaders are responsible for creating conditions for student success and contributing to the effective management of the school so that everyone can focus on teaching and learning. They are accountable to students, parents, the community, supervisors and to the Board for ensuring that students benefit from a high quality education.

Personal Leadership Resources

I draw upon the personal leadership resources to effectively enact leadership practices

The OLF describes the characteristics of effective leaders such as optimism, emotional intelligence and problem solving abilities, which the research indicates create the variation among leaders in how well they are able to enact the framework practices. Personal self assessment of the characteristics associated with cognitive, social and psychological resources is a critical component of leadership growth and development. The purpose of this tool is to assist aspiring leaders in identifying those characteristics that are contributing to or detracting from effective leadership practices.
